Rep. Harris on Stabilization

Wages Versus Prices

The Congressional Record for September 23 carries an extension of remarks by Representative Oren Harris, our Seventh District congressman, on the pending legislation to stabilize wages and prices and prevent a disastrous inflation.

Here are Mr. Harris's views in part:

Election Group Discusses Hot Springs Machine

Little Rock, Sept. 29 — (P) — Charges of "in" and "bossism" were hurled today in a bitter exchange of personalities between members of the rival Garland county political factions at the biennial meeting of the state board of election commissioners.

Governor Adkins, board chairman, interrupted Hot Springs Mayor Leo P. McLaughlin's bitter tirade against Former Circuit Judge Scott Wood, leader of the group opposing the McLaughlin political organization, cautioning the group against dealing in personalities.

The exchange followed introduction of rival slates of candidates for Garland county election commissioners by Democratic office holders on one side and the Arkansas Better Government League and Hot Springs Ministerial Alliance on the other. The league has never disclosed the names of its members.

The office holders recommended re-election of C. E. Miles, J. J. Ledgerwood and Richard Ryan while the opposition proposed Ray Smith, W. C. Gilliam and U. S. Pitney.

Wood charged that re-election of the commissioners would help retain "boss rule" in the county. He then made personal charges against election workers in Hot Springs and declared:

"If you want to save Arkansas from that bloc, it will take some action today."

Terming Wood's charges a "vicious assault," McLaughlin declared that Wood "has been a habitual objector in Garland county since we put him out of the circuit judge's office in 1921."

"It appears here with majest on today and everybody is wrong but him," McLaughlin said.

The Hot Springs mayor then bitterly assailed Wood's personal and political record and declared that he was circuit judge when Hot Springs "had the biggest wave the town has ever seen."

Replying to McLaughlin, Wood denied the accusations "vicious

Dry Counties May Not Share Liquor Taxes

Little Rock, Sept. 29 — (P) — Rep. O. Tibbels of Sharp county said today he would propose to the 1943 legislature that counties which vote dry be disqualified from participating in liquor revenues.

"I think it only fair that those counties which pay the liquor tax share in its benefits," Tibbels said.

To date, 10 counties have voted dry, but disqualified from participating in liquor revenues.

Citizens Want Something to Do to Aid War

By JACK STINNETT
Washington — Add up a million
to letters received at the White House, the Office of Civilian Defense, and the Office of War Information, and you will find that the most frequent civilian inquiry
is "What Can I Do?"

The question applies, of course,
to "what can I do to aid in the war effort?" Some of them are heart-breaking. The writers sometimes are almost illiterate, but their sincerity shines through.
One says: "I work all day but I could enlist in Defense at night."
Another: "I have served in prison, and I want to do somethin' for my Country." A third: "Dear Mr.
President, I am 7 years old, I am in the second grade. I feel the urge to help."

OCD has tried to answer them
all in a pamphlet called "What Can I Do—The Citizen's Handbook for War." Its 48 pages are packed with guideposts for the civilians who want to help. Any one can get them for the asking at their state and local defense council offices.

The text is the ABC's of cooperation in the war effort, illustrated with 64 drawings by Glynn Williams, who did them for free. A lot of it is elementary. It points out that 53,000,000 Americans live in so-called "target areas" and explains how they can black-out, etc.
Such subjects as "civilian mobilization, conservation, salvage, the war budget (with allowances for purchase of war bonds), health, loose talk, and volunteer service in civilian defense agencies" are given in a quick runover.

From there on, the pamphlet gets down to cases. Carpenters, plumbers and electricians can teach night training courses.
Painters can go in for camouflage.
There are jobs for truck, bus and taxi drivers, for miners, gardeners,
butchers, bakers and wholesalers;
for accountants, stenographers and clerks; for bankers,
lawyers, nurses, preachers,
librarians, musicians, architects,
press agents, and newspaper men.
There are chapters on "What
Men and Women on the Farm Can Do"; the contribution that can be made by boys and girls of school age; and, of course, a tabulation of voluntary civilian defense opportunities.

While it is strictly a words-of-one-syllable pamphlet, it has an appendix that suggests scores of books and material for further guidance. There isn't a book or brochure in the whole list that can't be obtained free and the subjects cover the alphabet from Agriculture to War Savings

OCD Director James M. Landis sums up the situation thusly:
Every man, woman and child in America has weapons for beating the Axis. You don't even need to get into this war.
Our weapons are all around us
in our homes and offices, schools
and clubs."

Bobcats Getting Ready for Game With Texarkana

The Hope Bobcats faced hard practice drills the remainder of this week in preparation for their third football game of the season with the Texarkana Razorbacks here Friday night.

Most of the Hope team came out of the El Dorado game in fair shape with the exception of Stephens, starting center, who re-hurt his leg injury suffered in the Smackover contest two weeks ago. He probably will not see action this weekend.

Much time will be devoted to a passing attack which is a weak department in the Bobcat offensive. On the ground the Hope team looks plenty strong and McCullough, Calhoun, Huddleston and Wells gained plenty of yardage against El Dorado.

Little is known of the Texarkana team which bowled over a fairly strong Prescott squad 19-0 last Friday night. However, the Razorbacks usually boast a strong running squad, capable of almost anything.

The Bobcats downed the Hogs by a single touchdown last season.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Wide World Sports Columnist

New York, Sept. 29.—Serious stuff. Off his National league record, Mort Cooper ought to win a couple of World Series games, but don't count on it too much. Since the Yanks started their series winning streak in 1927, no pitcher has been able to beat them for the big money just by throwing the ball past the batters.

They've lost four games in eight series—two to Carl Hubbell, one to Hal Shantz and one to White Syatt. Stan Musial's kid brother, Eddie, an artilleryman at Fort Riley, Kas., saw the Cards wind up the season and probably got more kick out of it than any ordinary fan.

Looks as if Whitey Moore had grabbed the "luckiest" title from French Bordagaray. He cut in on the series swag twice with the Reds and then landed with St. Louis this year because he hollered about a single touchdowm last season.

• Prediction

After giving the Cardinals the benefit of as much doubt as we can muster, this department's World Series choice is the Yanks in five games. The Cards ought to win one, but we don't know when or how, since they can't match the Yanks at the plate and in pitching and fielding about the best you can give them is an even break.

• The local explanation of the seeming apathy toward the Series is that the town wore itself out rooting the Cardinals home in their amazing September drive to the pennant. The fans needed a couple of days' rest before taking up the big assault on the Yankees tomorrow. All reserved seats to the first two games here were sold a week ago.

The Yanks—not riding a special train this time, but occupying up-train and long-distance everybody else—were due to arrive shortly before dark tonight, too late for a workout. They will not see the first of days' rest before taking up the big assault on the Yankees tomorrow. All reserved seats to the first two games here were sold a week ago.

U. S. Raids Help Shatter Morale of Hitler's Allies

all. Raining today, too. Life vest washed away.
A gu. 24. Hard warm, dry nite. Two and one-half weeks with nothing to eat — my body looks terrible. If someone comes today I can still live — but I need food. Head clear — position good otherwise.

Aug. 25 — Worst nite of all. Heavy rain. River came up, flooded me out of one bed, then another. Had to climb into rocks and sit shivering there. Yet somehow today, the almost sleepless, I have more strength to walk around on than for several days. All search for me, if any, must have been given up, so my plight is about hopeless.

Aug. 26 — Rained early last night, drenching me. Found dirty hole for bed under rotten log — rest exposed. Awful nite. Awoke but delirious for first time. Looks equally bad to nite — I'm still wet from last nite.

Aug. 27 — Got wettest yet. Wet all day. Very weak — looks near the end. Clothes won't dry out.

Aug. 28 — This may be wrong date. Either last nite was very long and full of bad dreams or 1 or two to three days. Only one nite have been semi-delirious — two or three days. Only one nite tho, because it must have been fairly dry and my clothes are only damp. If can summon strength may hike thru woods in hope of finding a shelter hut. Also berries or food. Found some delicious berries on shore.

Aug. 29 — Got back to big log Mike and I slept under Aug. 25. Mike, and I slept under Aug. 25. Both hopes built on any imagined parallel between that September and this almost certainly will prove illusory. Undoubtedly Hitler, like the Kaiser, is having trouble keeping his lesser allies of the southeast up to the mark. There can be little doubt that it requires the strongest kind of pressure to keep the Romanians and Hungarians fighting side by side against the Red army, not to mention the Italians. But the parallel ends about there. In 1918 the British already had conquered large sections of the Turkish empire. Bulgaria had been invaded by French and Serbs under the French general D'Esperey; the Bulgarian armies of the Austro-Hungarian empire were simply melting away.

Today the threat of invasion is far away from Hungary and Rumania. The armies they have contributed to the Russian campaign are fighting from 500 to 1,000 miles away from home and the promises that they are to share in the spoils of conquest, or at least have favorable places in the Hitlerian new order, have the appearance of fairly sound currency. Then, too, the ties with which the Nazi conqueror grapples his satellites to his cause are far tougher fiber than those of 1918, far more ruthless terrorism, greater thoroughness of political control, the all-pervading fear invoked by the Gestapo.

But signs are appearing that the one-sided alliance is suffering increasing stresses. Fear was the primary force that brought the Balkan states into the combination, fear and greed. Now fear is being exerted from the other side and the costs are rising alarmingly. Although the battlefields are far away, the war has been brought home to Bucharest, Budapest, Sofia and Zagreb by the long-range bomber, American, British, Russian. United States Liberators are known to have raided Rumania last week and there are apparently well founded reports that the same far-ranging machines had much to do with the recent spread of air raid panic through the Axis capitals of the Balkans. If these reports are substantiated and their truth brought home to the peoples of the Balkans, the moral effect is likely to be tremendous. The little southeastern states were assured that the power of the United States, treat as its potentialities, might be, could never reach across the Atlantic and across Europe to punish them. Realization of the futility of that assurance will go far toward destroying confidence in the whole of the Nazi promise.

Meanwhile the costs of the new order are mounting frightfully. Allied officials in London say Rumania's contribution, in the sieges of Odessa, Sebastopol and now Stalingrad, have reached the appalling total of 300,000 in dead alone. The evidence is strong that Hitler has allotted his Allies a place of honor in the front ranks of those sanguinary operations.

Sept. 30 — Got dry during nite so fairly comfortable despite lack of cover. Now at Mt. Top. Most vivid, terrible scene I ever witnessed. Such peaks! Only thing to do — keep away from river and keep a.m. Drenching and cold — may not survive. If I do, I feel my chance of getting out alive is better since I'll get an idea of the layout. Can see the river for miles. Despite cold, feel better tonic — more confident. Whatever happens, God has been good to me.

Aug. 31 — Last nite wettest of all. Very cold under only slight cover of palm. Dry but today found two pocketfuls of fruit looking and tasting like sour plums. Helped a lot, but too sour to eat many at once.

Sept. 1 — Crossed another creek last night, found good palm cover from heavy rain. Now climbing. Saw another emu. Two or three wallabies yesterday.
